

Hi

I have worked as a Presiding Officer in all elections for the last eighteen years and see that the register, both getting onto it and getting off it certainly needs to change.

I log changes requested by voters immediately after each election to the Co Co and it can take at least one year for the change to appear in the register This can cause distress to families when a polling card is subsequently received for a deceased person.

Hopefully the new system can register changes to take immediate effect.

Thank you,

Helen O'Shea.
